

Joseph F. Bianco, District Judge
United States District Judge
Central Islip, New York

RE: The American Automobile Association, Inc. v. Steve's Triple A Towing and Steven Balint, NO 10 CV 4141 (E.D.N.Y.)

Dear Honorable Bianco:

I am responding to a letter which was sent to me by Peter Saharko representing The American Automobile Association, Inc. attached. I would first like to point out to my knowledge I never received any correspondence regarding a court appearance. I have multiple papers received from Mr. Saharko relating to this matter, and I knew that I would be appearing in court but I have never seen anything listing the date in which to appear. I also noticed that the wrong zip code is being used, and I wonder if that has caused any interruption in paperwork that I should have received. I apologize greatly for failing to appear, I am just as saddened that I have not had the opportunity to represent myself.

The business name in this matter derived from having three girls, and their names beginning with the letter "A". I have attached a picture that shows on the back of the tow truck listing all three of the girl's names. I used the word "Triple A" because New York State approved this, and gave me the business certificate which is also attached. I don't understand why the name would be approved to later be sued for using it. The lettering on the truck was designed by a sticker person, and I approved it not being aware of any issues that would later arise.

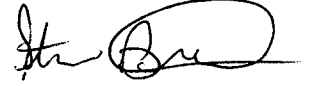

Steve's Triple A Towing has not been fully operational in or around 9 months. I have attached bank statements to show that this is NOT a profitable business. The business name was not changed sooner because I was in the process of selling it. In my opinion it would have been too costly to go and change the name on the bank accounts, business cards, invoices, and the lettering on the truck since I was closing up. I have since peeled the letters off the truck, although the truck is stationary in the driveway none operational, and there are those pictures attached as well.

Recently my plans to sell off the business have changed since my wife has been laid off from her job. I now need to put the truck back on the road and resurrect my company in support of my family. I will be going back to Riverhead no later than early next week to change my business name so that there aren't any further problems. This name change permits my bank to change the name on the account, and I will move forward in ordering new business cards and invoices. If you need I will forward all new business certificates and material I may receive to prove this change has taken place.

My apologies again for not responding sooner please accept this letter on behalf of me Steven Balint representing Steve's Triple A Towing. I am asking and praying for a motion to dismiss this judgment. If there is any other information you need from me, or you can provide me to help in the dismissal please don't hesitate to let me know. I have sent a copy of this and the attachments by mail to Mr. Saharko, and by fax to 202.778.5306 as listed on his letter.

Sincerely,
